Good Government Club Holds Another Meeting to Perfect Organization.

ITS DECLARATION OF

Cardinal Doctrines of the Club Formulated and Announced - Six Comprehensive Committees Provided For-Short Addresses Made by Members.

The second meeting of the Good Government club was held last evening at Delong's hall for the purpose of completing the organization commenced a week before President S. B. Wadsworth occupied the chair, and there were about fifty citizens present. Chairman C. M. Harl of the committee appointed to draw up a declaration of company, will purchase the Wies homestead on South Eighth street, and will occupy it with his brother, John P. Davis.

principles and a constitution made a report of the work done by the committee. The declaration of principles was as follows: ation of principles was as follows:

This club has been organized in realization of both the importance and difficulty of securing proper municipal government, our responsibility as citizens therefor and the potential influence which can be exercised by organization looking to the better government of our city. rament of our city. It has been organized, not for the purpose of investigating unsolved problems or the advocacy of unproven theories, but to secure advocacy of unproven theories, but to secure the enforcement of law, the suppression of vice and the promotion of municipal economy and progress. It is not organized to agitate for the change of existing laws, with reference to which there is well defined difference of opinion among good citizens, but to declare a platform looking to good government, upon which all citizens desirous of honest, efficient and economic administration can stand, without regard to difference of creed or politics.

good government, upon which all citizens desirous of honest, efficient and economic administration can stand, without regard to difference of creed or politics.

It shall be strictly nonpartisan and non-sectarian, and will give its assistance and support to every public officer endeavoring to discharge the duties of his office, enforce the laws and promote the welfare of the municipality, and will visit its condemnation upon all public officers countenancing the violation of law, the wasting of public moneys or the prostitution of government. We are in favor of the reasonable, honest, efficient and impartial enforcement of laws, of the complete severing of the partnership of municipal government with gambling and the social evil, as not only repugnant to the convictions of the majority of our people and at war with the principles of our civilization, but in direct defiance of the laws of the state, and demand that all support, either active or passive, of these institutions by the municipal government shall cease, and that laws against them shall be rigidly and efficiently enforced, to the end that wherever they shall continue both the municipal government and our citizens shall be relieved of responsibility therefor.

We are in favor of progress and the encouragement of enterprise, but demand that the taxes exacted of our people shall be economically and honestly administered, and all useless and unnecessary burdens shall be removed from the people, to the end that the burdens of taxation may be reduced without levying tribute upon the vices of the community.

We pledge ourselves collectively and insections of the community.

without levying tribute upon the vices of the community.

We pledge ourselves collectively and individually to the support of these principles and to efforts to secure their adoption as features of our municipal government, to aid in the enforcement of law, the suppression of vice and the promotion of business principles in our municipal administration.

SIX COMMITTEES CALLED FOR. The constitution was a somewhat lengthy one, providing all the various details of the organization. Six committees were to be ap-pointed, as follows: Municipal legislative, to look after all proposed legislation by the coun cil and notify the club of any that may be inimical to the city; taxation and public ex penditures, to keep the club posted on mat-ters pertaining to these matters, and to suggest means for cutting down taxation; re-trenchment and reform, to investigate the number of city employes and their salaries, means for cutting down taxation; re and to suggest where the city can curtail expenses; judiciary, to find out the legal rights of officials, the city, and the citizens; law enforcement and moral reform, to look up the manner in which the laws are en-forced, and the connection of the municipal government with vice; printing and education, to print and circulate literature containing information with reference to taxes, public expenditures and defects in municipal admin Istration.

The constitution further provided that met amounts to nearly four times what it did days in each month, at a place to be decided originally. matter of dues was to be settled by the same body. The constitution and the declaration of principles were adopted without change. Several short speeches were made by W. Wallace, W. C. James and others. C man Wadsworth made reference to the pro-osition made by the mayor in his recent message to the city council, and said that the city was paying too much county tax now. If his suggestions were adopted and the assessed valuation of all property were raisid, it would compel every taxpayer to pay more county and state taxes than he is doing now. L. W. Ross also made a few remarks, calling attention to the fact that out of the 611/2mill levy this year only 21/2 mills are re quired for state purposes, so that the 59 mills are levied by the people themselves. We are in the habit of finding fault with the government for its reckless way of managing our finances, when it is really ourselves who are acting like a lot of spendthrifts. The name "Good Government club" implied to his mind that there must be a bad government somewhere, and he hoped the present John Ahles bobbed into view at this juncture, and made one of his characteristic speeches. At the climax of an oratorical pe-riod he wove in a small but picturesque riod he wove in a small but picturesque word that began with a D, and J. H. Westcott called him to time. Ahles went on until he was through, and said nothing more to their noses. An executive committee was appointed, with President Wadsworth as chairman exofficio, and the other members were W. F Baker, W. C. James, C. M. Harl and J. C. DeHaven. This committee will hold a meet ing this morning at 10 o'clock at Harl McCabe's office, and name the six commit tees, each to consist of five men, and decide upon a place of meeting. I had some experience in this line in connection with my Chicago newspaper work, and have always felt that if I had any talents they lay in that direction. Mr. Barrett was equally positive in his statement that there was a mistake some-where. Days' Illness. PHILADELPHIA, March 22.-Ex-Mayor and ex-Congressman Richard Vaux died at his home in this city at 4 o'clock this morning from a severe attack of the grip, aged 78 years.

Mr. Vaux complained of an unusual spell of indigestion in the early part of last week, but, though taking but little nourishment of any kind, he went to his office every day and attended to his duties with his accustomed cheerfulness. Last Saturday as president of the state prison board he received the special committee of the state legislature CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., March 22.—(Special appointed to report on the proposed removal Telegram.)—At Vinton J. B. Strong, one of of the eastern penitentiary, and spent fully the judges at the school election in one of the two hours in showing the members about the institution. After leaving the warm corridors the cold air chilled the aged philanthropist and on Sunday he found himself in a hot fever. The family physician, Dr. Cheston, was called in and found Mr. Vaux suffering from the grip. He grew rapidly worse and yesterday Dr. Cheston deemed i necessary to call Dr. Tyson into consultation and both physicians admitted the gravity of the situation. Late last night the aged pa-tient began to sink rapidly and shortly after midnight he became unconscious.

be attractive if she will make the effort. It isn't altogether a question of beauty. It's largely a matter of health. The bloom and glow of health go far toward bringing beauty. A clear skin, bright eyes, red lips and the vivacity which bodily good feeling brings, will make even a homely woman handsome. The satisfaction of attracting the atten-than the gratification afforded by feeling equal to other women. Leaving out all considerations of comfort and looking only at the matter on the side of beauty, a woman's health should be the object of greatest care and thought. Half of the women one meets are semi-invalids. Carelessness and ignorance and neglect have made it so. Failure to heed the warnings of outraged nature—failure to give the help needed by the most delicate and sensitive organs—little troubles and gain a settled seat—these things bring about the sunken, circled eyes, the hollow cheeks, the pale and sallow skin, the flabby, strengthless flesh, which characterize the appearance of the woman who suffers from "female weakness." There is no reason, save that of carelessness, why the human female should not be as strongly healthy as the human male. There is no reason in nature for it—there is no excuse in the world for "female weakness." If proper care be taken, it need never exist. If proper care be taken, its existence can be stopped.

GIVEN UP ALL HOPE

Eczema, Turning to Blood Poison. Treated by Specialists Seven Months without One Particle of Success.

BODY RUNNING SORES.

Condition Terrible. Life a Burden. Tried CUTICURA. In Three Days Attends to Business. Cure Permanent.

In the spring of 1891 I took that dreadful skin disease, Eczema, which turned into blood poison. I consulted the best known specialists in this city. They treated me for seven months but I never derived a particle of good from any of them. They had given it up as a hopeless cure. I was covered with sores from head to foot; I had running sores all over me, some of them as large as a box of your CUTICURA. It cost me hundreds of dollars with these so-called specialists. My condition was terrible, life was almost a burden to me. I could not eat drink, or sleep. I was unable to walk and had given myself up as dead. I tried all medicines imaginable, until a friend who had got relief advised me to try CUTICURA REMEDIES. I sent out and got them, and when I took the first dose of your CUTICURA RESOLVENT I was a new man. In three days I was up walking around and attending to my business, and it is the CUTICURA and one bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT I was a new man. In three days I was up walking around and attending to my business, and it is the CUTICURA and one bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT I was a new man. In three days I was up walking around and attending to my business, and it is the CUTICURA and one bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT I had saved me from the jaws of death. This is two years ago. I wanted to see if it had been driven out of my system, and I can say I have never had any trouble since for two years.
